Saturday, Oct 8 Deadline For Registration

Saturday, October 8, from 8:30 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. the Glades Office Building, office of Horace Beasley, registrar will be open for all Glades residents to have a last chance to register before the registration books close. This is the last day to register to be eligible to vote in the November 8 election.

Mrs. Mabel Young, building manager, reported that only 16 persons had taken advantage of the two night registration sessions. To be eligible to register to vote in the general election you have to have been a resident of the state for a year and the county for six months.

Zip Code To Be Furnished By Post Office

Beginning Monday Post office boxes and star route boxes throughout the Canal Point area will deliver two cards to every residence. Postmaster Edythe Smith reported.

Each card will have spaces for addresses the householder wishes ZIPPED. (To be added in multi-coded cities; one for local addresses, the other for out-of-town.)

After placing their un-coded addresses on the cards, preferably printed legibly, they may be dropped into any letter box or returned to the Post Office. The Canal Point Post Office will add the appropriate ZIP Codes and return the cards to the mailer.

"No postage is needed," Mrs. Smith said.

The project is part of Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien's program to make ZIP Codes more accessible to the mailing public.

In addition to the cards for addresses, a special notation advising each resident of his local ZIP Code number will be delivered.

The cards will carry a message from Postmaster General O'Brien advising that ZIP Coded mail helps provide better service.

In completing the cards, only the street address and city and state are required. Individual names should not be listed.

Postmaster Edythe Smith emphasized the importance of including a return address on the front of the cards so they may be returned after addresses have been coded.

Incomplete addresses which are submitted but cannot be ZIP Coded by the local post office, such as those in a city like Washington, D. C. which has the same street names and numbers in the northeast, northwest, southeast and southwest sections, will be sent to the appropriate city and the codes will be added there.

Additional cards are available from your post office star route carrier.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Rogers left Wednesday to spend a few days in South Carolina.

FEC Railway Purchases Site For Industry

A large fully-developed industrial site along the FEC mainline at Riviera Beach has been purchased by the Railway as part of a long-range project to make sure there is adequate land available for industrial development.

The purchase, which was completed last month, gives the railroad a choice 250-acre tract that has roads, tracks, water and sewer lines. There are already 20 industries located in this industrial park, including a bakery, meat packer, electronic manufacturer, terrazzo and tile fabricators, and warehousing concerns.

FEC's Industrial Development Department is already at work, aided by both on-line and off-line freight agents, in rounding up prospective tenants who will generate freight traffic for the railroad.

The newly acquired tract has many attractive features for industries looking for a new manufacturing or distribution site.

Research Center For Jim Walter

ST. PETERSBURG, (FNS) Work has officially started on a $2 million Jim Walter Corp. Research Center in St. Petersburg which the chairman of the board had described as "living proof" of the firm's faith in the Tampa-St. Petersburg area.

Business and governmental leaders of the Tampa Bay area joined Board Chairman James W. Walter and other corporation officials in marking the beginning of the five-building complex on a 25-acre site.

The subsidiary, which will be operated as the Jim Walter Research Corp., will incorporate former research facilities of the Celotex Corp. in Des Plaines, Ill.

Walter, Board Chairman of Jim Walter Corp., said the research facility location was chosen because it is readily accessible to the corporation's new headquarters building in Tampa which will be occupied around Thanksgiving.

Offshore Labor Still Is A Question

George Wedgworth of Belle Glade, president of the Florida Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association and Fred Sikes of Clewiston, president of Florida Sugar Producers Association, were in Washington this week where they were in conference with Stanley Rutenberg, assistant secretary of labor for manpower.

Following the meeting Sikes was optimistic over the fact that sugar cane growers will be allowed to use offshore labor to cut cane. Mr. Sikes remarked that "I am confident that we will get cutters from the islands."

However, Rutenberg said "I gave Mr. Sikes no reason to be confident or not to be confident. No firm decision has been made. We have the problem under intensive study."

The problem is that the Labor Department would like to be able to say that an adequate domestic labor supply is available to the growers.

The Department of Labor has a recruiting program throughout Florida, Mississippi and Georgia to bring people into Florida to do the picking and cutting jobs.

Why should you buy U.S. Savings Bonds when there are so many other good investments?

To help your country is one answer—and a good one.

But Bonds have other advantages that make them worth your consideration.

For instance, they offer you just about the easiest way to save money: either with the Payroll Savings Plan where you just ask your employer to put part of your wages aside toward a Bond or through regular purchase of Bonds at your bank.

Another unique advantage of U.S. Savings Bonds is the way they stick with you. You can get your money any time.

But if you're like most people, you'll hang on to your Savings Bonds for the big things you want in your future.

And, of course, Bonds are a safe investment—as long as there's a United States of America.

Which brings us back to your country again. Bonds help defend freedom at a time when the enemies of freedom are stronger than ever.

Buy Savings Bonds. The banks or savings institutions that sell them don't charge you a penny for the service.

Candy Strippers Name Beverly Wilkinson

Miss Beverly Wilkinson was elected president of the Candy Strippers at a meeting with Mrs. Marjorie Laks, president elect of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Everglades Memorial Hospital, held in the dining room of the hospital Saturday to reorganize for the coming year.

Other new officers elected were Miss Anne Pell, vice president; Miss Sharon Usher, corresponding and recording secretary; Miss Jan Kemp, treasurer; and Miss Connie Mills, publicity chairman. Miss Jan Unwin was appointed service chairman and Miss Marsha Sullivan, historian.

The new president, Miss Wilkinson, explained to prospective new members present at the meeting the purpose of the Candy Strippers, the work they can do at the hospital, and the rules and regulations under which they operate.

Mrs. Laks announced that Candy Strippers who are credited with 25 hours of work in the hospital will be awarded Service Certificates. Those who work 50 hours will receive Service Pins, and those with 75 hours to their credit will be presented with Candy Strippers Caps.

Mrs. Laks displayed at the meeting cleverly designed "Pinky" hand puppets and showed how they were made. The group decided to make some of these puppets as a service project, and present them to children patients for entertainment when they enter the hospital for treatment.

The group voted to meet on the first Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p. m. until the present schedule of double sessions at Pahokee High School is changed.

Homemakers Meeting Set November 1st

Miss Mary Bodwell, former Assistant State Extension Leader of Iowa, will be in charge of the County Extension Homemakers Program Planning Meeting at the Mounts Building November 1, at 11:00 a. m. Leaders from all interested organizations in the county are invited to attend. Each should bring in ideas from her organization as to the home economics projects that her club considers vital and of most importance. The group will continue their final planning at the New England Oyster House beginning at 12:15 p. m.

Included in the plans will be the following being sponsored by the Extension Homemakers Council on consumer, education and home management.

General situation: The Extension Service would like to increase its educational outreach to the people in Palm Beach County by intensified work in an area of real need—consumer education.

In Palm Beach County, the median income for the family is $4,784. In 1960, 28,911 persons residing in the county were 65 years of age or older. Many of these older citizens are living on reduced incomes, often only Social Security. $1,300,000 per year is spent in the county in welfare. Young families find it difficult to stretch their income to cover their needs. Many young wives are working to add to the income. In the West Palm Beach area 40.4 per cent of all local jobs are held by women.

High Calls Kirk's Papers Aesop's Fables

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Robert King High said in Fort Walton Beach this week that his Republican opponent "refuses to be serious about state government."

In a speech to a convention of county tax assessors, High pounded Republican Claude Kirk's white papers, terming them "Aesop's Fables" and the works of a "political huckster trying to talk his way into the governor's chair."

High said Kirk's position paper on highways and roads proposes to eliminate North Florida from future road building projects.

The Democrat read a passage from the Kirk paper which stated, "a fine network of roads stretches across the middle and upper section of our peninsula. It now remains to continue this good work by bringing these roads down into the newly populous areas of Central and South Florida."

High said, "according to Mr. Kirk you have enough roads here and you've got all you're going to get."

"Can any responsible individual support a man who says he's going to cut this part of the state off roads?" he asked.

Later in a speech to campaign workers in Pensacola, High denied Kirk's charges that he is a "taxer and a spender."

"Today, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines."

"Today, above all, is a time for all Americans to rededicate themselves to the spirit that animated the Minuteman of Concord—who serve as a symbol of the Savings Bond program. For today, as at the founding of our nation, it is freedom which is at stake. Not all of us are called upon to fight in the jungles of Vietnam, but while our men are there, in the front lines of a distant land, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines. We must all do our share—in every way we can—to support our men in Vietnam. One sure way is open to all Americans through the Savings Bond program."

How to speak out for freedom today

Free men have never gone in much for silence. Even before the first thirteen States became United States, men were speaking for freedom loud and clear.

Today Americans speak out for freedom many ways—in Congress, in local government, in neighborhood activities. Some speak out for freedom in other languages, in other lands. And millions of Americans speak out for freedom every time they buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

Every Savings Bond you buy is an investment in freedom. While you're saving money for your own family's future, you're helping Uncle Sam tend to the business of keeping men free today.

Perhaps you don't speak out for freedom in the same tone of voice when you buy a Bond as Patrick Henry did in his famous speech. But you speak every bit as surely. And every bit as proudly.

Why not speak out for freedom now? Buy Bonds at the bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Keep freedom in your future with
